SAPS or PATRIOTS?

What is America "Defending"?

We Cannot Serve Two Masters

WHAT PATRIOTISM MEANS

Winston Churchill is a very talkative fellow. In order to be able to "fight over again and again in the agreeable atmosphere of the after dinner mess table", Churchill joined the Fourth Hussars and went with the Spanish Army to Cuba in 1895. That's what he says in his book a "A Roving Commission", page 80.

He always looks at the "jolly" side of life. So he was not satisfied with the "delicious yet tremulous" sensation of killing American boys in Cuba, he decided to have more of it and joined the 31st Punjab Infantry and descended upon the Indian population in the TIRAH expedition. He wrote on page 132 of the book, "A lot of people were killed and others were wounded and hopped around for the rest of their lives and it was all very exciting and, for those who did not get killed or hurt, very jolly."

You see, he IS a mighty jolly fellow and talkative about it.

Another "jolly" experience was lived over again in the agreeable atmosphere of Utah when Churchill explained to a prominent American club president how the U. S. was roped into the world war. He recounted how peace terms had already been arranged but that the Europeans could not figure out who was to pay for the war. They all had been bankrupted. So there was none left but the U. S.—Uncle Sap.

It was then and there decided, by all parties: Germany, England and France, that America had to be drawn in in order to pay for the war. So, instead of executing the peace arrangements, President Wilson was induced to ask congress for a declaration of war, a part of the war front was turned over to "American boys" that "American blood be sacrificed" to give Uncle Sap a sense of importance and with collaboration of the Kaiser to this plan, the war was prolonged. But at the peace table the British and French double-crossed both the Kaiser and Wilson and established the treaty of Versailles. Upton Close, American columnist, has described this phase of it in detail, as Churchill gave it out in his talkative "fighting over again and again in the agreeable atmosphere of the after dinner" club room in Salt Lake City.

International Looters

Now how was it possible for Germany, England and France to come to an agreement to keep on fighting till America was drawn into the war? And Uncle Sap did pay for it and is paying now again.

It was possible because the three governments were puppet governments of the International Bankers, headed by the Rothschilds. The decisions were made in the directors room of the Rothschild clan and J. P. Morgan was and still is their agent.

Hitler was set up in Germany by Vickers Ltd. with the aid and consent of the British government. French and German armament manufacturers helped pay the bill for organizing the brown shirts. They were all afraid of Russia which was fast rearming with the help of the German Reichswehr. Hitler was to take over the Reichswehr so that it could not continue to train the Russians since by the Versailles treaty they could not train in Germany, but the Reichswehr was determined to maintain its training schools.

Whom Is America Defending ?

President Roosevelt is telling us that we must defend the Four Freedoms by helping England to keep its hold on its subjects whom England is exploiting to the tune of 5 billion dollars yearly, in clear tribute, after cost of maintining the government in the colonies is deducted. We must defend Stalin; he has become a Christian since he has been attacked by Hitler. But Hitler was set up by England in the first place to hold Stalin off.

In the meantime our taxbill for this "defense" of the Four Freedoms is rising. Our people are being conscripted and regimented. We are told that unless we destroy the Nazi regime our commerce will be wiped off the earth; but our export is merely 3% of our whole production and 97% of our market lies within the 48 states. Yet THIS market is being destroyed through the whole new deal system of ruining the small, individual business and professional people.

Murderous Messiahs

Who is going to be hurt by the barter system or any other system where the Jewish financier will be eliminated in trade? At present every export and import transaction is being "financed" by the Jewish bankers in New York who get a commission for it. The German method of trading eliminates the commission. Since no money changes hands there is no need of "financing". So who is hollering that THEY would be ruined? And to protect THEM the 97% of the American business transactions are being regimented and a debt of 50 billions is in the process of growing to 100 billions dimensions. Verily Uncle Sap is being taken for a ride by the international war racketeers.

Perverting Religion to Serve Mammon

In the July issue of the British Mazdaznan Magazine a letter appears from Mary Stout, who considers herself a Mazdaznan, a refugee from England, written from Cincinnati, Ohio, April 25, 1941, to the British leader of the Mazdaznan Association who edits the Magazine.

My dear Daddy Guromano,

. . . . . I know you all are enduring your terrible ordeal with such sublime courage and faith whereas we over here are so home sick and heart sick and disappointed and dismayed at the delay in sending the help promised you, that we fall far short of your magnificent morale.

We get minute to minute news over the radio from all battle fronts and the German propaganda machine works overtime to accomplish its war of nerves.

Great diversity of opinion, delay in production owing to labour troubles all add their quota to preventing all our aid which I am sure you are counting on after listening to all the promises made in such melliflous tones over the air.

I fear it is a case of long postponement of the glowing morrow and help from the so-called Saviour nation, where such complicated red-tape delays action. . . . . I beg of you to give my salaams and greetings to all and know that I am ever thinking of you and missing you, and counting the days (hoping it won't be years) before I see all you grand and inspiring people again.

Affectionately, MARY STOUT.

Mary Stout, the British refugee, writes this letter to her "religious" leader who publishes it without corrective remarks in the British Magazine. Now for the sake of the truth about Mazdaznan, we must append our explanation of the religious attitude of the Mazdaznan Associates of God.

In our language the U. S. A. is known as the Savior nation because it is to save the world from slavery, it being the white man's country where the Aryan is to reach culmination of free expression of his ideals in practice. But, Mary Stout, like the Jewish Lords in England and Palestine, cannot conceive of a Savior like Christ. Their saviors are "supermen" with armor and blood in their eyes out to "conquer" the world in a murderous crusade for the "Four Freedoms".

In fine, Mary Stout has the same idea of a savior as the Rabbinic Jews who crucified Jesus because He refused to take up arms and lead the Jewish youth into a war of "liberation". Mary Stout is as good a Mazdaznan and the same type of Mazdaznan, as the murderers of Jesus are Christians.

The Savior is not a murderer, mass or individual. And Jesus made it very clear. But America is ruled by the same class of Christ killers that did their dirty work two milleniums ago, at least this outfit imagines they rule America because they put their man in the White House by a ruse and staffed federal key-positions with their kind.

"Patriotism" in the sense of Mazdaznan is to serve THE FATHER, who alone is our FATHER. And America cannot become the savior nation, till Americans become Christians first who know the distinction between a murderous messiah and the loving spirit of the Man of Nazareth. America is to prove and demonstrate the power of fair play, the power of God which brings out fair play in the hearts of men who are treated as men. By becoming catspaws of the international murderers Americans are not serving the needs of the hour nor executing the designs of Providence. Patriots are only those who choose between Him who rules our soul and brings out compassion and those who worship Mammon. Humanity is good, at the root, because all are children of the same FATHER. Let's be PATRIOTIC enough not to submit to the rule of Mammon and ruin the world through participation in this fraticidal mania.

England is ready to make peace today. It does not want to defeat Hitler and be placed at the mercy of Stalin. England is realistic. But the decision lies with Roosevelt. Write to him and tell him what you think, don't be afraid to speak up.

Executive

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT—President of the United States.

On March 7, 1934, there was released to the Associated Press a genealogical chart prepared in the Carnegie Institute of Washington, D. C., under direction of Dr. H. H. Laughlin, showing that the first Roosevelts to come to the United States were Claes Martenszen Van Rosenvelt (not Roosevelt) and his wife, whose maiden name had been Jannetje Samuels. Take note that the spelling of the name at that time was Rosen-velt, not Roose-velt.

Claes' wife must have been a Jewess, for Samuels is by no means a Dutch surmane.

Claes and Jannetje thereupon had a son, Nicholas Rosenvelt, who subsequently married Heyltje Kunst—obviously another Jewess.

Thereupon there were five generations of Rosenvelts before Franklin Delano came upon the scene.

Early in 1934, Chase S. Osborn, ex-Governor of Michigan, gave, in an interview at St. Petersburg, Fla., the results of his researches into the Roosevelt—or Rosenvelt—genealogy. Printed in the St. Petersburg Times, the Osborn interview made reference to the Jewish ancestry of the President, the Governor declaring that Franklin D. Roosevelt is the living descendant of the Rossocampo family, expelled from Spain in 1620. Seeking safety in Germany, Holland, and other countries, members of the family, he said, changed their names to Rosenberg, Rosenbaum, Rosenblum, Rosenvelt, and Rosenthal. Quoting ex-Governor Osborn directly—

"The Rosenvelts in North Holland finally became Roosevelt, soon becoming apostates with the first generation and others following suit until, in the fourth generation, a little storekeeper by the name of Jacobus Rosenvelt was the only one who remained true to his Jewish faith."

Besides these contentions of the Carnegie Institute and ex-Governor Osborn, the following is from the book The House of Roosevelt, by Paul Haber, said to be a Jewish author, 1936 edition:

"Claes Rosenvelt entered the cloth business in New York, and married in 1682. He accumulated a fortune. He then changed his name to Nicholas Rosenvelt. Of his four sons, Isaac died young. Nicholas married a Sarah Solomons. Jacobus married Catherine Hardenburg . . . . Isaac became a capitalist. He founded the Bank of New York in 1790." In the Roosevelt family tree there are 351 persons bearing Biblical names of the Tribe of Israel!

If Roosevelt of today claims Dutch ancestry, how happens it that there cannot be located any true Dutch families in Holland by that name, and why, on all the old records, is the family name consistently spelled Rosenvelt?

It is interesting to note that no matter what the origin of the family name, it means in all languages "Field of Roses". Even Rossocampo, the Spanish translation, means Field of Roses. Changed to German, it becomes Rosenfeld. Evidently the spelling of the name with two "o's" and no "n" was an alteration made long after the family had become domiciled here in America. One wonders why.

Executive "Advisers"

BERNARD M. BARUCH— "Unofficial President".

New York financier and "economist". By his own admission before the Senate, had more power during the World War than any other one individual. Enjoyed almost autocratic control over 246 of the nation's most vital war industries. Continued as close personal advisor to Herbert Hoover, Republican President. On election of "Democratic" Roosevelt to the White House, was cynically referred to in nation's press as "the unofficial President" when Roosevelt always seemed to leave on "vacations" as vital executive quandaries were ahead. Of late has been absent in Europe on mysterious missions that are now earning him the nickname of "Franklin's Colonel House".

"Mr. Baruch will report to President Roosevelt soon on 'his private observations of Europe' "—N. Y. Herald Tribune, Sept. 7, 1937.

STATE TYRANNY AND CRIMES

(Over KGB, Tuesday 8:30 pm, August 5, 1941)

FRED—I noticed banners hanging from the street car trolley braces on lower Broadway, here in San Diego, advertising the Del Mar race track. Who put those banners up?

DAVID—Its' free advertising, given by the city of San Diego to the race track at Del Mar, now that the racing season is on, Freddy.

FRED—Daddy, if the city gives free advertising to the race track, why don't you get the city to advertise your paper, or this radio program, too.

DAD—Oh, that's different, Freddy. The city is not interested in my work, and besides I would not ask for such a thing because it is against public policy. If they advertise me they would have to advertise anybody else, too.

FRED—But why do they advertise the race track?

DAVID—It's because of the parimutuel gambling that goes on at the track. The State of California gets a share of the gambling profits, so the City, as a subdivision of the state government, has to advertise gambling and help the state make money.

FRED—Isn't gambling a crime punishable by fines and imprisonment? I understand that the District Attorney and the Police are arresting gamblers in San Diego.

DAD—Yes, Freddy; gambling is a crime when conducted by individuals who do not work in cahoots with the state. These small gamblers are called bookmakers and they are being raided, arrested and fined; the Del Mar race

Roosevelt's Dictatorship

(Over KGB, Tuesday 8:30 pm, August 5, 1941)

DAVID—But dad, you are old fashioned in your ideas about government. Nowadays principle is out-of-date. When a fellow runs for office he promises anything that gets him votes and after election he laughs at those who expected him to keep his campaign promises.

FRED—Are you talking about Wendell Willkie? He said that his campaign pledges were mere campaign oratory. But daddy, I don't think that you are so out-of-date with your ideas about government, because the people stand more with your ideas of America First, than with Willkie's ideas. When Col. Lindbergh spoke at the Hollywood Bowl, 35,000 went to listen to him, but when Willkie spoke they could not drum up more than 12,000 even though the Hollywood studios urged their employees to attend that meeting.

DAD—The oath to stand by the Constitution is never out-of-date. And keeping faith with the people by living up to one's election promises is the only safe way of governing the people in accordance with their consent. When they elect a person who promises certain things and who takes an oath to live up to the Constitution, it is the height of bad faith and the beginning of tyranny, to use the powers of the office to which one was elected to break faith with the people. That is dictatorship.

DAVID—Is that why you published his letter to President Roosevelt?

DAD—Not because he is a former governor, but because of the truth he brought out in his letter.

FRED—What did he say in that letter?

DAVID— "My dear Mr. President:—Nine scant months ago, by the election of a Chief Executive for a third consecutive term, a dictatorship was begotten on the body politic of this country. Your occupation of Iceland, without knowledge or consent of Congress, together with your July 7th message and July 8th press conference, disclosing your intention to wage an undeclared war on German sea power in the Atlantic, give proof that the period of gestation is over, and a new dictatorship is born to the world.

"Mr. President, if you act upon your proposition to shoot it out with the German navy, should it attack vessels carrying contraband to England, or even show itself in the waters between Iceland and the United States, you will do this in clear defiance of international law and our Constitution, that places the war-making power in Congress. Moreover, this act of war will be a repudiation of your pre-election contract with the people, to keep America out of war provided they would give you a third term in office. And it may be said that, for the performance of this contract, you were paid in advance on November 4th, 1940, by the votes of twenty-seven million, then trusting, but now betrayed, citizens . . . "

FRED— But dad, Mr. Pinchot is saying just what you said a while ago about keeping faith with the people and obeying the Constitution.

DAVID—Is it not subversive for Governor Pinchot to criticise the President in such strong terms and call him a dictator because he occupied Iceland? That puts Mr. Roosevelt in the same class with the other dictators in Europe.

DAD—To tell the truth about our public officials is never subversive in America. Not to tell the truth about them, THAT is subversive. The moment the President did what he did he laid himself open to the charge of dictatorship and it is the duty of American citizenship to call him to account for his actions. Read on and let's hear what Mr. Pinchot says about it.

DAVID— "Mr. President, Iceland is not in the Americas, or even in the Western Hemisphere, as you have erroneously claimed. It is as much a foreign country as England or France. It is in the war zone, three thousand miles from the United States but seven hundred from the English coast. Nevertheless, you told your press conference that you propose to relieve its British garrison with American 'boys'.

"More than that, you said you would 'act' in other undisclosed places outside this Hemisphere, without authority of Congress, wherever in your opinion, such action might be necessary. In a word you propose to act, not as an American president, but as a dictator equally scornful of his own promises and of the public will . . . . "

FRED—Them are mighty strong words, dad. Is the FBI going to investigate Mr. Pinchot for having written such a letter to the President?

DAVID—Nobody would dare charge Governor Pinchot with subversive activities, Fred. Senator Wheeler was accused of being almost traitorous when he sent postal cards to a million voters asking them to write to the President what they thought about the extension of the draft period. But Secretary of War Stimson who made that charge because some soldiers got a few cards, too, apologized to Mr. Wheeler.

FRED—But daddy, if you said over the radio what Mr. Pinchot said that the President is a dictator, would you get by with it?

DAD—This is a mighty queer country. I remember when Upton Sinclair was arrested because he was reading in public the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. Remember what I said before about government going in cahoots with race track gamblers and collecting a cut-in. We have a free country to the extent that we can vote for anything we want, but in so doing we can also vote away our liberty and elect a dictator the way Hitler was elected in Germany. It was legal and above-board, technically. But Mr. Pinchot is right: Dictatorship is dictatorship, whether in Germany, Russia or America. We must uphold he Constitution, that's our only salvation.

England Orders Export Tax Payable By Us On Our Exports !

(See N. Y. Times, June 24, 1941, P. 7: "Britain To Issue Mailcerts Here")

By Frank A. Parker

RIVERDALE ON HUDSON, N. Y. CITY,— Declaration of Independence, 1776:

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our Constitution and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation: . . . For imposing Taxes on us without our consent; . . . For suspending our own Legislatures and declaring themselves (Englishmen) invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

As "Step No. 1 in the reenaction of those things for which we were obliged to declare our independence—in part above—the British Embassy in Washington has the effrontery to decree that beginning July 1, 1941, they will collect from we Americans $1 for a stamp (a stamp tax called a "mailcert") affixed on all mail packages valued at over $25 each going to foreign countries.

Its plain effect is that we are to pay an EXPORT DUTY on our own exports for the sole benefit of the British Empire policing the high seas, with at least 52 of our own navy vessels, on anything sent through the U. S. Mails to foreign countries.

The "justification" offered us is that it will facilitate "censorship" of British control of the high seas.

But that argument is pretty flat since the tax does not apply to shipments valued at less than $25—British agents to be the "appraisers of values". Therefore if it is not an export duty, then what is it.

Of course none can reasonably question the fundamental right of Germany, for instance, to obstruct property or intelligence being shipped its enemy England as we would do the same thing under like circumstances; nor vice versa as to England's right to obstruct the same enroute to Germany.

But when either, or both, of them undertake to collect an export tax from Americans on $25's worth or more, while at the same time waiving the tax on $24.99's worth or less, they have simply stepped into Congress and usurped The Congress power "To regulate commerce with foreign nations . . . ". (Const'n Art. 1 sec. 8 (3)

For "We Americans to stand for such a thing from Germany would be unthinkable. It would be almost equivalent to unconditional surrender to the next and succeeding steps.

Viewed in that light, is it any worse to make the same unconditional surrender to England, under any pretext whatsoever?

Words wholly fail to express our supreme contempt for any such insult to our national dignity, and I hope that each person receiving this news will at once refer it to some Congressman who will submit a resolution in Congress demanding an explanation from the Executive Branch of our Government.

People who can close their eyes to this have lost all patriotic instincts in their intoxication to "stop Hitler", in order to be entangled by another octopus no less vicious or having no different objectives as to conquest of the world and ourselves.

New Deal Legal Grafters

Curiosity

WASHINGTON,— The amount of Tommie Corcoran's earnings as a lawyer-lobbyist may be divulged when the house naval affairs committee investigates the ship-building operations of his California client, Henry J. Kaiser. In the few months since the ex-reformer and brain truster quit the New Deal, he is reported to have cleaned up at least $1,000,000 around the Washington lot.

Tommie acted as go-between in obtaining O.P.M. favors and R.F.C. funds for the Kaiser interests, when they broke into the metals industry as an administration-fed competitor of the Aluminum Company of America. Mr. Corcoran also has handled several other lucrative accounts involving contracts with his old friends in the government.

The Truman committee treated him gingerly when it investigated recently the Todd Shipbuilding corporation's huge profits on government contracts. Committee Lawyer Hugh A. Fulton, an old friend of Mr. Corcoran, did not develop the fact that Client Kaiser now owns the Todd company.

House Naval Affairs Chairman Vinson promises to observe no reticence in probing the Corcoran-Kaiser relationship. He believes that fees paid to Tommie by the Kaiser interests are a matter of legitimate interest to congressional investigators, inasmuch as their amounts will be an element of the company's costs. Besides, the congressman would like to know how the young man who once carried the liberal torch is doing these days. They're still getting only $10,000 a year.—Ray Tucker.

Jews Capture "America First"

SAN FRANCISCO,—Arrangements for the recent appearance of Wendell L. Willkie before a mass meeting here Thursday, July 24, caused waves of inconsistency to eddy around the skirts of Mrs. Florence Kahn, former member of Congress from San Francisco. The waves were started by S. L. Brogden, director of organization in California for the No Foreign War Coalition, Inc., which for months past from national headquarters at Washington, D. C., has been conducting a campaign to keep the United States out of all foreign wars.

"We note," said Brogden in a signed statement given the press, "that among the Northern California women on the charter committee named to make arrangements for the Wendell L. Willkie mass meeting in this city there is listed Mrs. Florence Kahn.

"Mr. Willkie has been most outspoken in his demand that the United States give utmost aid to Great Britain, even to the extent of sending our Navy into the war zone and our soldiers onto foreign soil.

"Mrs. Kahn is national committee woman for the America First Committee in California and in that capactiy is the actual head of the Committee's work in this State. America First Committee for many weeks past has been assailing Willkie and his policies, and standing with Wheeler, Lindbergh, Clark, Nye and others in their fight to keep America out of war.

"We challenge Mrs. Kahn to explain her position. Does she favor Willkie and his war mongering, or does she stand with Wheeler, Lindbergh and the others who are battling for peace? She cannot consistently stand for both."

GEN. ROBERT E. WOOD, America First, L. A.—"I have read 'Mein Kampf' quite carefully many times and have found a clear concept of Hitler's intentions in Europe. There is no threat of world domination there, and I maintain America is not in danger."

Union's Control Perils Workers, Says Sanders

Rank and file members of international labor unions are "industrial slaves", Hugh Sanders, general counsel for the San Diego Employers association, told Realty board members at a luncheon meeting in the U. S. Grant hotel.

"The rank and file of the A. F. L. and the C. I. O. are rank and file Americans," Sanders said. "The trouble is at the top."

The only thing wrong with the labor movement is that the members do not have power, by their own vote, to run their own affairs, Sanders continued.

'Antagonism Needless'

Speaking on "Industrial Peace as Part of the Program of National Defense", Sanders said the ironing out of labor disputes primary is a matter of education. "The courts are not the proper place for settlement of these 'unnecessary evils'," he said.

"There is a feeling of antagonism between employers and employes that should not exist," Sanders continued, "It springs from a lack of confidence and contact."

"The real trouble with both internationals is that no one visioned their growth and power, and didn't set up a control to protect the members from unscrupulous leaders."

Solar Union Praised

Citing the organization of the Solar Employes association, independent aircraft union, as the beginning of a new era in the labor movement, Sanders said he "believes the leaders of most union locals in San Diego, if they had the support of the community, would undertake a program of independent unions."

Organizations of the Solar type, Sanders said, may incorporate as non-profit groups, and obtain the protection of the state corporations commission for a nominal filing fee, "eliminating the possibility of racketeering, domination by officials of the organization." The second motive for such a program would be the "freedom of individual responsibility", he said.

'Restore Right To Work'

"We have to restore to the working man his right to work," Sanders concluded.

England Holds Iceland

NEW YORK,—The canny English are not going to be caught napping. They are not evacuating Iceland, now that the Americans have arrived. They are not letting the Americans gain a foothold there to set up an American viceroy or governor. Churchill is not going to see Iceland annexed and administered as an American territory, as in the case of the Hawaiian islands. In plain words, Churchill does not trust our President, knowing, as he does, that there is always the temptation to hold on to islands once taken over in trust, nominally for the benefit of the rightful owners. So the British garrison will stay there to keep an eye on the Yankees.

Iceland, which has no jail, no navy or army, and under Danish rule has been the world's model community, will soon enjoy all the blessings of British and American civilization, including jails, slums, a navy, an army and alms houses. The Icelanders have been too long behind the times.

THE MAZDAZNAN PHILOSOPHY
By Dr. O. Z. Ha'nish

To unload on a person the things he does not want and has no use for is taking advantage of one's good nature at an unguarded moment and is neither a virtue to the imposed nor an honor to him who makes it a business to catch—flies. Such a one is neither a factor unto society nor is he a producer of its wealth.

If you are offered the very thing you are looking for, the very thing that places you into a position longed for, then the man who imparted it to you is not only a benefactor—he is a savior.

It is the purpose of Mazdaznan to meet the demands of time and point out to every man according to his needs. The dreamer may continue in his dreams if he cares not to be awakened, while he who is rubbing his eyes should be spurred to become wide awake and, like the bird of the wildwoods, catch the worm ere the sun passes the meridian line.

Religion is one thing, philosophy another, science claims a field peculiar to itself, while political economy suggests itself in the progress of time, yet what man needs to know above all things is how to live to get out of life all it has to offer.

The manifold phases of thought and mind are not to be studied; they are to be the result of man's individual development of his manifold God-given attributes and endowments.

To grow, develop, unfold and mature man needs only the opportunity to exercise the latent powers within him. Knowledge, understanding and wisdom are the fruits of man's talents, gifts, attributes and endowments.

Life is not a chain of arguments, debates, discussions and criticism. Life is a sweet song, accompanied by the universal music that peals forth from the grand organ of Nature's accomplishments unto the delight and pleasure of man.

The existence of things void of the consciousness of Infinite Thought is a struggle, while Life conscious of its at-one-ment with Mazda is a victory.

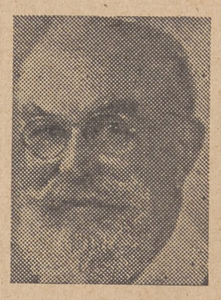
HEALTH-GERMS

By George Starr White, M. D.

HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES
(Arterio-Sclerosis)

LOS ANGELES,—The hardening of the blood vessels is caused by errors in diet,—living and drinking. It is a condition that follows long-continued auto-intoxication.



Dr. Geo. Starr White

Auto-intoxication can be caused from too much work and too little rest and recreation. It can be caused by nicotin poisoning from the "best" cigars or the cheapest cigarets. The chewing of tobacco is almost sure to cause hardening of the arteries.

Alcohol in any form is a leading cause of hardening of the blood vessels; whether the alcohol be taken in as such, or made within the intestins by eating raw yeast and sweets, or starches and refined sugar. Pastries and yeast-cakes are the best "eats" to give one arterio-sclerosis.

Constipation is a leading factor in causing the lime deposits in the blood vessels which cause them to harden. Pelvic troubles will help cause hardening of the arteries.

By reversing the cause of the hardening, the vessels can be helped. The diet must be changed and plenty of distilled or boiled water must be drunk.

There is always an "epidemic" of arterio-sclerosis after a big smallpox scare with its vaccination foolery. The serums and vaccins undermine the constitution and break down the natural resistance, and a profound toxemia results. In the superstitious attempt to prevent one unhealth, scores of other conditions arise—all depending upon the person who is poisoned.

One cause of arterio-sclerosis is aluminum poisoning. Several years ago a man came to me for diagnosis. He was not yet fifty years of age, yet his blood-vessels stood out on his forehead, and he had dizzy spells and weakness—all symptoms of hardening of the arteries. His habits and diet seemed better than the average. I inquired about the kitchen utensils. He told me they used the "best alumniumware". I told him to discard it all and use only iron or enamel-ware, stainless steel or baking-glassware.

I told him to eat nothing that contained alum—to watch labels on all boxes and cans of food stuffs and see that he got only what was safe and suitable for him to eat.

Within two months this patient told me he felt like a "new man". His symptons were all gone and his arteries felt normal. Another "miracle cure" had been accomplished—simply by throwing out aluminum—the "Kitchen Kurse".

NO JOKE ABOUT IT

Overheard in Campbell's grocery:

Clerk: "Mr. Campbell, don't you think I should have my salary raised?"

Campbell: "If ye mention that to me again, I'll make ye a partner—and then you'll not be making any money at all."

AND SO I SAY

And so I say,
We all must part from here,
But yet our deeds
Will be remembered there
Where blood not flows
And hearts have stopped to beat.

There we shall meet
Again and yet again
And recollect
Our actions in this world.

Thus let us use
Consideration, thot
That in the end
Finale "good" be wrote.

Two Jews . . .

WASHINGTON,— The fixing for the price control legislation was an all-hands job. Drafting was the work of a brilliant young lawyer in OPAX, David Ginsberg, and the legal deputy administrator, John Hamm. But the list of co-authors included vice President Wallace, Speaker Rayburn, Leaders McCormack and Barkley, with Bernard Baruch back in the shadows.

So touchy were the congressional leaders on the hated subject, Mr. Rayburn refused to tell ahead of time who would sponsor the bill in the house or to which committee it would be referred.

Rayburn frankly said he did not want to subject the chosen gentlemen to such tremendous pressure one moment earlier than necessary—Paul Mallon.

A Scot had just insured his house against fire. As he signed his name he turned to the insurance agent and asked:

"What would I get if my house were to burn down to-morrow?"

"Oh, I should say about ten years," replied the insurance man.

War is merely an excuse for murder, rape and plunder—that politicians may exploit the people who give them office.

"Warmongering Kikes"

WASHINGTON,—W. Lee O'-Daniel, the new senator from Texas, denounced the army service extension bill because it "breaks faith with our soldier boys" and evoked such audible agreement from one woman spectator that she was ejected from the senate gallery.

"They're warmongering kikes—I don't want to get into war," shouted the woman, who identified herself as Mrs. Josephine Wanderscheid, 47, of Chicago. Police took her to the guard room in the capitol basement and released her when she displayed a return ticket to Chicago and promised to use it.

Court Upholds Children In Flag Salute Refusal

BOSTON,—A majority opinion of the state supreme court has ruled illegal any punishment of children who refuse to salute the flag on grounds of religious scruples.

The high court ruled that under state law, penalties were provided for teachers who neglect to require the flag salute, but no penalties were provided for pupils who refuse on religious grounds to make the salute.

Jews Ask for It

TOLERANCE is not needed for things that are Good. We "tolerate" what is evil only—and intolerance is a refusal to tolerate evil.

ALIEN PROPAGANDA is tiring out the American Public. Our American People seem no longer interested in the affairs of Britain, Germany, France, Russia, nor in anything un-American, but only to keep America out of a war that is none of OUR business.

SENSIBLE NATIONAL DEFENSE can be had by Ousting the "nu-deal" and putting into office some sensible people who can handle internal affairs and international relations to benefit the American People.

From the statements attributed to Martin Dies, we are led to believe that most of the "fifth-column" subversive un-American underworld came into Our Country as "refugees". We are not aware that Mr. Dies has stated just who are those "refujews" but we notice they still are being admitted to Our Country, in ever-increasing numbers. track where gambling is permitted, gets free advertising from the City. In fact this wave of hypocritical law enforcement against the bookmakers reminds me of a fight between Chicago gangsters for the rake-off from gambling.

FRED—Why is it right to gamble at Del Mar and wrong to gamble in San Diego, when placing a bet with a bookmaker?

DAVID—The law says so.

FRED—But I want to know what's right, not what the law says.

DAD—You are right, Freddy. Because the law says that gambling is right when the State gets a rake-off, that does not make it right.

FRED—But why do they do such things?

DAVID—You see, Fred, when you do something wrong the state has the power to arrest you, but when the government decides to do something wrong, who is going to arrest the government?

FRED—But that's crooked!—Isn't it, daddy.

DAD—Certainly Fred, it's crooked. But that is how people look at it, exactly as David said it. When you do something wrong the state arrests you, but who is to arrest the state? It's the old story of "The King Can Do No Wrong" because who is to arrest the King?

DAVID—That was in the days when we were a colony of England, but because the King was wrong, we declared our independence from him. Now we are the government and we decide what's right and what's wrong.

DAD—Yes, David; and the responsibility is ours. We know what's right and that we must treat all people alike before the law. It makes no difference what persons are involved, whether the State gets a rake-off or not, the same law must apply to all.

FRED—But why don't we apply it to all?

DAD—As far as I am concerned I do not gamble, in San Diego or at Del Mar. And as far as the State is concerned it merely shows our lack of moral concept in government. All the voters are responsible for it. It was voted in to permit gambling at the race track and give the state a rake-off. But that does not make it right, just the same. There is a connection between this attitude and the labor racket as well as war, conscription and capital punishment. The idea is that if enough people want something which is wrong that makes it right; but it doesn't.

DAVID—You mean that if enough people want to kill somebody, that makes it right, in the case of capital punishment, even though God gave us the Ten Commandments.

DAD—And the people are so foolish, they imagine that Might makes Right and our politicians act accordingly. Even the Churches fall in line with them and pray for victory on the battlefields, when they well know that war is mass murder and is forbidden by God. It is impossible to have good government where the same law does not apply to rulers and subjects alike.

DAVID—But in America we have no rulers and no subjects, all the citizens are sovereign individuals and elect their public servants for a limited term of office.

DAD—Neither the American people nor their public officials adhere to such a concept of free American self-government. The British concept of ruler and subjects is fast replacing the idea of the Founding Fathers. Self-government demands a high standard of morality and self-discipline. A citizen who will go to the polls and vote that it is right for one group of men to conduct a race track and make millions in profits in the long run, if they pay a rake-off to the State of California, while at the same time a small bookmaker is thrown in jail for taking bets in San Diego, such a voter has no sense of justice or equity. This lack of principle is the cause of all loss of freedom in America. Because we create artificial standards and arbitrary rules of right and wrong we are destroying that application of Principle as proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence when it says that God has made all men free and equal. The moment we give one a privilege over another we commit a public crime.

FRED—The City Council should be ashamed of itself, allowing its streets to be used for race touting with banners hanging on Broadway.

DAD—If more young people were quick to speak up and point out the corruption of government principle, America would not fast be losing its economic and political liberties.

By Charles H. Ingersoll
(Of Dollar Watch Fame)

'Savings conscription spells end of capitalism' is the startling caption of John T. Flynn. He draws this conclusion partly from England, where the 'Barclay Bank, theory is reduced to practice. They are, in the main, avoiding (1) loans, (2) taxes, and (3) 'borrowing through banks'. And largely displacing all this by 'enforced loans, conscription savings — everybody's savings!' — and quoted as the Hitler system.

Mr. Flynn interprets this as a confession by the English capitalists, who have managed their country into this war—that their system, capitalism, is through.

I take this statement by Mr. Flynn very seriously, and partly because I have an impression, from what I have read of his views, that the conclusion coincides with his own beliefs and desires—but not that it is less truthful for that reason. He does not say so, but the obvious successor of capitalism will be Bevin-Communism, perhaps under the name of laborism. And, assuming the accuracy of this, I guess it dovetails with the go and come of the Hopkinses, Winants, Cohens, and even Willkies—all such zealous New Deal Communists, as to make them parties in the rejoicing.

One of 'democracy's' best friends in the Georgist colony of Arden, Del., sends a very interesting 'letter to Hitler', which, while refusing to longer accept propaganda from one of his 'bunds', gives him a splendid line of friendly counsel, embodying the whole economic philosophy.

Will the editor gamble an opinion on whether an hour or two invested in such an adventure IS invested? Yes, the chances are fair that such an epistle (or missile) will land—if not at the center—on an outpost, where it might take root. All propaganda is in the air, but the aim is, in two senses, of the essence.

My friend, Kosti de Aryan, of the San Diego Broom, argues the labor question under the heading: 'Is striking a right or a privilege?' But I cannot follow him in the latter conclusion. Like collective bargaining, I can't see any lack of 'right' in it. It is derived from the individual's right to do either. The 'collectivity' in either, of course, is implied conspiracy. But I doubt if that can be avoided safely. I don't see how either can do any harm, if such things as sit-down, picketing, and other violence, and violation of property rights are denied.

Of course, the final answer is to end all disputes by ending the robbery of labor and capital by basic monopoly, using our tax system, which leaves them to fight over half their wages and profits.

How to get the most tonnage sunk most quickly: is not that the convoy way? Certainly at this moment this seems to be the most likely way of our display of urgency to 'do something' for England. No one seems to advocate it on other grounds, as the sinkings—abstractly and relatively—are being played up in startling forms most effectively.

The President states, at one of those remarkable weekly press conferences, that it would be 'a good thing' to lower the draft age to 18, and that 'every young man should give a year of his life to his government'. The liberty taken with their President by a hundred or two smartest reporters, is certainly shocking; and he is sometimes as free with them.

I wonder what Calvin Coolidge would say to the let down in national dignity. It may be a good thing to skim the cream off our humankind for the game of mass-murder. It's not so easy as F.D.R. seems to make it. Maybe we should raise the age to 60. Then as to a boy's duty to his state, concerning a year of his time, can a President guarantee to return the boy in as good a shape as he got him, & at the end of the year? Some day this war question may be dealt with less imaginatively and emotionally. Then the answers to such questions may not be so offhand—and therefore more reliable.

PERFIDIOUS ALBION

An Englishman was one day boasting to a pre-Wilson American statesman of the immensity of the British Empire.

"Yes, sir", he explained, winding up his glorification, "the sun never sets on the English possessions".

"I am not surprised at that", replied the American; "the sun is obliged to keep an eye on the rascals".

'Will Put 5th Column In Place', Says Donovan

LOS ANGELES,—Brig. Gen. Joseph O. Donovan, state director of selective service, asserted that the fifth column in the United States is made up of "slackers, obstructionists, isolationists and idlers."

"There is a place for the fifth columner, too," he added, "and we propose to put him in his place and see that he stays there."

Donoval addressed a dinner sponsored by the American Legion county council in honor of more than 1000 selectees inducted from Los Angeles.

British Secret Service Report 1919

Mr. Wilson as President of the League

The effectiveness of the League will depend upon the power with which it can be endowed, and that will hinge upon the skill with which the cardinal functions of the American Legislature are transferred to the Executive Council of the League. Any abrupt change may startle the ignorant American masses and rouse them to action against it. And us. Our best policy, therefore, would be to appoint President Wilson first President of the League. When the fourteen points seemed to our Government twice seven deadly sins, I analyzed with care his diverse and numerous notes and discourses and divided them into two parts; one, the Wilson creed—"I believe in open covenants, and in the freedom of the seas", etc.; and two, the Wilson comandments—"Might shall not prevail over right, the strong shall not oppress the weak", etc. From the "too proud to fight' and "he kept us out of war" episodes, I ventured to deduce (September 29, 1918, Appendix 36) that he would at the appropriate moment oblige us by transferring the "not" from his comandments to his creed, without as much as a "May I not", and in such a way that his people will be none the wiser. The plain people of this country are inveterate and incurable hero worshipers. They are, however, sincere in sentiment and for a hero to become established in the public shrine, he must first succeed in getting his name associated with the phrases and slogans that seem to reflect the undefined aspirations of the average inhabitant. When this has been accomplished the allegiance is at once transferred from the sentiment to the sentimentalist, from the ideal to the maker of the longed for phrase. No one understands this peculiarity of the native behaviour better than Mr. Wilson, which accounts largely for his exceptional usefulness to us. He knows that Americans will not scrutinize any performance too closely, provided their faith in the performer has been adequately established. Mr. Wilson has since made the transfer amid American acclamation. In the same way he will now be able to satisfy them that far from surrendering their independence to the League, they are actually extending their sovereignity by it. He alone can satisfy them on this. He alone can father an Anti-Bolshevic espionage act which—judicially interpreted—will enable appropriate punitive measures to be applied to any American who may be unwise enough to assert that America must again declare her independence. And he, alone, therefore, is qualified to act for us as first President of the League.

Mr. Wilson's Amour Propre

I confess I am a little uneasy lest in the exigencies of diplomatic combat, Mr. Wilson may not have found the joy he anticipated from matching his wits against the best brains of Europe. He is easily slighted and remarkably vindictive. It is the highest degree desirable that any traces of resentment his mind may be harboring against us should be radically removed before he returns. I would, therefore, suggest that the work of adulation planned in Appendix 32, should be intensively continued. The adulators, however, should be ininstructed to consult the inventories I have prepared (Appendices 45-83 which show that he is now surfeited with diamond stomachers, brooches and bracelets, Gobelin tapestries, mosaics and vases, gold caskets and plates.)

Visit of the Prince Wales

The programme we arranged for his visit to England (Appendix 33) included a Royal Reception at Buckingham Palace, with which the President was well pleased. This fruitful visit of the President to the King should be returned as early as possible. I would suggest that as soon as the President is settled once more in the White House, the visit should be returned by His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales who would be an admirable representative of His Royal Sire, and would satisfy President Wilson's sense of fitness. It is perhaps unfortunate that there is not a Presidential daughter of the Prince's age, for such a union would have greatly advanced our purpose not only with the American people but also with a President who feels that lese majeste should be punishable with twenty years' imprisonment, and who acts as if he considered his son-in-law, Mr. McAdoo, as his Heir Apparent.

Roosevelt's Corruption And Patronage

Strategy

WASHINGTON,—President Roosevelt's aides are applying every ounce of military pressure and patronage to put through the resolution extending the army service of draftees. Their smart handling of defense and cantonment contracts may furnish enough votes for passage.

Recently the war department selected 12 new camp sites for the expanding army, but refused to tip off members of congress on their location. Chief of Staff Marshall demanded secrecy until the last moment for fear of real estate gouging, since funds for actual purchase are not yet available. The congressmen insisted that they should receive the information 24 hours in advance. They wanted to telegraph the exclusive news to prominent constituents, local newspapers and chambers of commerce, and receive credit for the deal. That is an old Copitol Hill custom. General Marshall said "no", and the apparently trival controversy was laid before the politcal higherups. The chief of staff was forced to compromise. The 40-odd legislators involved were given a six-hour head start with the flash. They have obtained similar or greater favors from O.P.M. on defense contracts.—Ray Tucker.
